Tuck Everlasting Summary. First things first: the narrator explains the setting. We're in the woods near Treegap, where there's an important spring, owned by the Foster family. Got it? Okay, here we go. Mae Tuck is getting ready to go meet her sons.

Tuck Everlasting Summary | Shmoop

Notice that the narrator's true interest is in the natural world surrounding Treegap, not the village of Treegap itself. By drawing a contrast between the wilder landscape outside of Treegap and the cut lawn on the inside of the cottage's fence, the narrator also shows how people have the ability to manipulate the natural world and make it look the way they want it to---though the language ...
